ABOUT AMY

A highly trained London based actress with over 20 years of professional theatre experience along with a strong background in global executive level coaching.

She has worked with entrepreneurs, CEO's, politicians, senators, lawyers, senior executives, high-profile actors as well as presidents of international companies.

Amy specialises in preparing clients for important pitches, presentations, talks, television appearances, radio interviews, difficult negotiations and much more.

Trained mostly in The Meisner Technique, which teaches presence, spontaneity and connection – all crucial qualities to becoming an outstanding communicator. Students of this method include Al Pacino, Michelle Pfeiffer, Dustin Hoffman and James Gandolfini, plus many more acting luminaries.

Her work with business executives, although rooted in acting training, is firmly applied within a business context.

Her series of Radical Business Masterclasses have been running for the past year to much success. Clients include Aviva Investors, The EU, Bank of New York Mellon, Swarovski, Marlin PR, Capital Enterprise, Permutation Ventures, Start-Up Istanbul, Westminster University and Barnsley Council.

TESTIMONIALS

Mike Butcher, Editor of TechCrunch says...

"I learned more in that time than in any other 90 minute period. I would thoroughly recommend her services."

Julia Rabin, Capital Enterprise says....

"Amy's warm and fun approach manages to combine group activities with focused individual guidance so that even a 3 hour workshop made a real difference in bringing out the best in our cohort."

James Moore, Aviva Investors says...

"The Radical Collective workshops are pure greatness"

Tracey Johnson, The EU Digital Initiative says....

"Amy is an absolute gem. She powerfully transformed all our regional representatives from ineffective pitching into seizing the business stage. No mean feat for a group of 35 people."

Anne-Marie McConnon, Chief Marketing Officer, Bank of New York

"Amy helped me to command important business conversations with more strength. I now present with poise and have started to actually enjoy public speaking, which in turn inspires my listeners. The feedback has been brilliant."

Lizzie Freud, Actress, says....

"Radical Presence helped marry my logic and creativity so that I spoke about the things that mattered with reason and passion...a rare combo"
